Network

Volume 1, Issue 1 - November 2003

The mission of the United Nations Online Network in Public Administration and Finance (UNPAN) is to promote the sharing of knowledge, experiences and best practices throughout the world in sound public policies, effective public administration and efficient civil services, through capacity-building and cooperation among the United Nations Member States, with emphasis on south-south cooperation and UNPAN's commitment to integrity and excellence.

UNPAN NEWS HEADLINES

Fifth Interregional Consultative Meeting of UNPAN Will Take Place on 7 November

The Fifth Interregional Consultative Meeting of UNPAN will be held on 7 November 2003 in Mexico City, Mexico. The heads of UNPAN members will meet to focus on two major components. The first is to review the progress made in UNPAN since April 2002 at both the international and regional levels. The second is to discuss and reach a consensus on several major activities to be carried out in the near future, which include the expansion of UNPAN to the subregional level, enhancing the coordination of the activities of the UNPAN members for 2004-2005, UNPAN's participation in the United Nations Public Service Day/Awards 2004, and the report on the implementation of the UNPAN programme at the ORC/OIC level to the United Nations General Assembly.

UNPAN Conducts Training Workshop on E-information Management

The Fourth UNPAN Training Workshop on E-information Management was conducted by UNPAN-NY and held from 22-25 September 2003 in Thessaloniki, Greece. It was attended by 27 UNPAN network members from 17 regional and international institutions throughout the world.

The Workshop consisted of six parts: a) the introduction of new members, b) a report on the progress made since June 2002, c) an experience-sharing among all UNPAN members, d) technical training on the newly upgraded UNPAN system, e) a discussion on future actions, and f) a quiz, evaluation and conclusion.

In the course of the 3 ½ days of extensive work, and based on the results of the quiz and evaluation undertaken by all participants, six main objectives were achieved. The participants gained a better understanding of the general status of UNPAN's development, learned valuable experiences from each other on information management, and obtained better skills for the using the UNPAN technical system. In addition, two long-term working groups were established: one for content and one for ICT development. Finally, the cooperation among the members was strengthened both bilaterally and multilaterally, and a consensus was reached on the actions to be undertaken in the near future.

"Governance for Progressing Africa"

On 24 October 2003, CAFRAD, in cooperation with the Moroccan Observatory of Public Administration (OMAP), organised a "National Forum on Governance", at the National School of Administration of Rabat, Morocco, to present the results of the study on the "Evaluation of the governance system in the Kingdom of Morocco", that CAFRAD and OMAP accomplished for the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa (UNECA). The Final Report will be then presented in a Sub-regional Forum that will be organised by the North African Centre of UNECA in Cairo, 8-9 December 2003. The findings of the study will also serve for the preparation of the Fourth African Development Forum that will take place in Addis Ababa, 7-11 March 2004, and will focus on the theme "Governance for Progressing Africa".

Machinea is Named ECLAC Executive Secretary

A former Argentinean economic minister has been appointed Executive Secretary of the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC). José Luis Machinea was the Economy Minister from December 1999 to February 2001, and he has also worked extensively in the private sector. He replaces José Antonio Ocampo, who is now the UN Under-Secretary-General for Economic and Social Affairs. He has worked as a consultant to the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank, as president of an Argentinean economic and social think-tank, and president of a private consulting firm. Mr. Machinea has also served as president of Argentina's central bank, as under-secretary of political economy, and under-secretary of planning. He holds a Ph.D. in economics and has taught graduate courses in macroeconomics, banking and monetary policy in Argentina. Most recently he has been a special expert in integration and trade at the Inter-American Development Bank.

Regional Conference Promotes Renewable Energy Use in Latin America and the Caribbean

The United Nations estimates that almost 2.5 billion people - one-third of the world's population - lack access to modern energy services. At the Millennium Summit (2000), UN countries agreed that urgent measures should be adopted before 2015 to cut this figure in half and, along the way, reduce both the poverty in which many of the world's inhabitants live today and growing environmental pollution caused by the indiscriminate use of fossil fuels. On 29 and 30 October 2003, the Regional Conference for Latin America and the Caribbean on Renewable Energy took place in the Brazilian capital, Brasilia. The Conference, called by the government of that country and organized by ECLAC, sought to approve a regional platform on renewable energies for presentation to the International Conference for Renewable Energies to be held in Bonn, Germany, in 2004.

Expert Consultative Meeting on Public Administration and Public Accounting Development, with Stress on Electronic Tools

[Jointly with Meeting on the Innovation of Public Administration in the Euro-Mediterranean Region (UNDESA)]

Dates: 1 - 3 July 2003

Location: UN-House, Beirut, Lebanon

The 'Expert Consultative Meeting on Public Administration and Public Accounting Development, with Stress on Electronic Tools' was held under the auspices of H.E. Mr. Karim Pakradouni, the Lebanese Minister of State for Administrative Reform. The meeting was organized by the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia (ESCWA), the Office of State for Administrative Development (OMSAR), the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UNDESA, New York), and Friedrich Ebert Foundation, in collaboration with the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the Lebanese Professional Computer Association (PCA), and the Association for the Development of Informatics and Law in Lebanon (ADIL). Four Arab Ministers participated in the meeting and contributed to the sessions as Chairpersons and through recommendations and discussion.

H.E. Mr. Said Khalfan Al-Ghaith (Minister of State) represented the United Arab Emirates, H.E. Mr. Najib Zerouali (Minister in Charge of Modernizing the Public Sector) represented Morocco, H.E. Mr. Abdelhakim Bourawy (Minister in Charge of Administrative Reform) represented Tunisia, as well as Mr. Karim Pakradouni; H.E. Mr. Abdelaziz Hegazi (ex-Prime Minister of Egypt) participated with an input paper on reform of budgeting systems. A Ministerial panel session was held and discussions between Ministers and experts took place to reach the best methods for administrative development. There were more than 100 participants from 19 countries; participants were experts from the ESCWA region and other regions as well as national representatives from ministries involved in public sector development in ESCWA member countries and other Arab countries who shared the experience in this field. The meeting addressed the major issues facing public administration and public finance development in the region and in other regions with a focus on supporting electronic tools.

The Meeting on the Innovation of Public Administration in the Euro-Mediterranean Region discussed the challenges countries of the Mediterranean region are facing in the process of administrative development and the most relevant national challenges countries of the Arab region are facing in promoting economic and social development, and in fostering more participatory governance systems.

The important recommendations of the meeting requested ESCWA and the Division for Public Administration and Development Management (DPADM/DESA) to continue their effort and to run diagnostic surveys assessing the innovations in public administration and institutional development; to provide support for existing or new networks of innovators through UNPAN; to facilitate the sharing of e-services through UNPAN; to support the development of e-government in the Arab region, to hold regional fora and workshops on innovations and good practices in public administration and governance, and finally to run pilot programmes of innovations in public administration and governance at the national level.

The final report and all the recommendations of this meeting will soon be published on the meeting's Web page, which can also be checked for the proceedings of the meeting.

IPAC Holds Successful National Conference

The Institute of Public Administration of Canada's (IPAC) national conference in late August 2003 was an unprecedented success. The combined number of speakers and attendees brought the total number of conference participants up close to 700. An especially strong slate of speakers raised numerous important issues and stimulated widespread discussion among participants on the conference's theme of balancing innovative governance with the larger concerns of the public good. Papers from the conference will be posted to the IPAC web site soon.

Dates: 13 - 15 May 2004

Location: Hotel Reval Lietuva, Vilnius, Lithuania

Organized in cooperation with the Lithuanian Public Administration Training Association, Vilnius, Lithuania

THE MAIN CONFERENCE THEME:

As we meet in May 2004, an historical change will have taken place in Europe. Several former communist countries of Central and Eastern Europe will have joined the European Union, an unprecedented voluntary association of democratic states with market economies, and its emerging Constitutional identity. The entire structure of political, economic, and social relations in Europe will change. What will be the impact of this change to public policy and administration in countries both inside and outside the EU borders? What will the challenges be of this new membership to public policy and administration of the new member states? What actions will need to be taken to avoid the new divide between them and the other countries of the region, and to harmonize the way in which public interests are followed throughout the entire continent?

Asia-Pacific Regional Forum of Cities and Local Governments in the Information Society

29 - 31 October 2003

Location: Shanghai, China

Conference theme:

The Regional Forum showcased Asian-Pacific projects on e-governance, e-health, e-education, e-inclusion and e-economy, bringing to the fore regional and local experiences in the field of the Information Society, with the long-term view of strengthening Local Governments' capacities for implementing and promoting effective use of Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs) throughout urban and/or rural communities in the Asia-Pacific region.

The main objectives of the Regional Forum were to:

- (a) Present the Summit challenges for regions and local authorities;
- (b) Document and examine Regional and Local Authorities' expertise in the field of Information Society to be implemented after the WSIS;
- (c) Analyse the factors of success and the constraints faced by Regions and Local Authorities in their efforts to develop the Information Society in the Asia-Pacific region;
- (d) Prepare the position of the Asian-Pacific regional and local actors to be presented at the Summit.

Expected outcomes from the Regional Forum were:

- (a) Definition of the role and responsibilities of regions and local authorities in the Information Society;
- (b) Definition of relations and identification of potential partnerships between local actors, central governments, civil society and private sector in a South-South and North-South context;
- (c) Assessment of capacity building needs in the field of the Information Society at the sub-national and local level;
- (d) Outlined political Declaration of Regions and Local Authorities to be presented at the Summit;
- (e) Outlined Plan of Action of Regions and Local Authorities to be presented at the Summit.

NEWS FROM UNCRD

United Nations Centre for Regional Development

<http://www.uncrd.or.jp>

About UNCRD

UNCRD is one of the new members of UNPAN as an Online International Centre (OIC) and content contributor. The Centre targets its programmes towards socially and environmentally sustainable development. The two multidisciplinary themes of human security and environment serve as a guide for the Centre's training and research activities.

UNCRD Will Hold International Training Course in Regional Development Next Year

UNCRD will hold its Thirty-Second International Training Course in Regional Development (ITC) from 13 May to 23 June 2004. The Course, which is UNCRD's flagship training course, represents all the training experiences and know-how accumulated during the Centre's thirty-two year history. The six-week Course will deliver the expected outcomes through a compact programme replete with cases for study and discussion, as well as field study visits to provide insights into Japan's regional development experience. UNCRD does not charge fees for participation in the Course, but provides entitlements including airfare, living allowances and medical expenses for the duration of the Course. Such entitlements are limited to ten only, so externally-funded participants are welcomed. Please note that those applicants with financial support from UNPAN partners will be given higher priority in the screening process for the Course. In those cases where the applicant has obtained financial support from UNPAN partners, a letter explicitly stating the sponsoring organization and the coverage of expenses must accompany his/her application form. In parallel, the funding agency should send a letter of endorsement to UNCRD to confirm that the applicant has been awarded financial support. The deadline for application to ITC 32 is 26 December 2003.

NEWS FROM UNTC

UN Thessaloniki Centre for Public Service Professionalism (UNTC)

<http://www.untcentre.org>

5th UNTC Steering Committee Meeting

The Steering Committee of the United Nations Thessaloniki Center (UNTC) was held on 29 July 2003, with the participation of high ranking representatives of the U.N., the Greek Government, and authorities in Albania, Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, the provisional government of Kosovo and Slovakia. Mr. Guido

Bertucci, Director General of the Department of Public Administration and Development Management of the UN (UN/DPADM), chaired the meeting. The Minister of Macedonia and Thrace, Mr. Charis Kastanidis, opened the meeting, while the special representatives of the Ministry of Interior, Public Administration and Decentralization underlined the top priority that the Greek government attaches to the multilateral activities of the Center.

UNTC Welcomes New Staff

Mr. Yiannis Tavridis came on board last April as Programme and Administrative Officer, a position that had remained vacant for almost a year, while Ms. Barbara Chiara Ubaldi, Associate Expert, joined the staff last month. Ms. Ubaldi will strengthen UNTC's UNPAN-related activities.
